DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the following communications: application, filed on 11/12/1999; IDS, paper #4, filed on 06/06/2000; IDS, paper #5, filed on 08/21/2000.
2. Claims 1-10 are pending in this application. Claims 1 and 6 are independent claims. No claims have yet been amended.
3. The present title of this application is "Image Generation Method and Image Generation Device" (as originally filed).

Priority

4. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

1. Color photographs and color drawings are acceptable only for examination purposes unless a petition filed under 37 CFR 1.84(a)(2) is granted permitting their use as acceptable drawings. In the event that applicant wishes to use the drawings currently on file as acceptable drawings, a petition must be filed for acceptance of the color photographs or color drawings as acceptable drawings. Any such petition must be accompanied by the appropriate fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(h), three sets of color drawings or color photographs, as appropriate, and an amendment to the first paragraph of the brief description of the drawings section of the specification which states:

The patent or application file contains at least one drawing executed in color. Copies of this patent or patent application publication with color drawing(s) will be provided by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office upon request and payment of the necessary fee.

Color photographs will be accepted if the conditions for accepting color drawings have been satisfied.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bolton, U.S. Patent Number 4,343,037, "Visual Display Systems of the Computer Generated Image Type", class 345/582.

As per independent claim 1, an image generation method for generating a two-dimensional image by texture mapping . . . comprising the steps of: generating an overall pattern on said polygons by mapping of basic textures; Bolton discloses a patterned surface displayed in true perspective, col. 7, line 9; and executing by amplitude modulation mapping of modulation textures, amplitude modulation processing on patterns . . . Bolton discloses an output signal defining brightness and colour of the surface image to modulate the display, col. 6, lines 30-32.

With respect to dependent claim 2, amplitude modulation processing . . . smaller with increasing distance from the vicinity of a viewpoint. Bolton discloses perspective transformation of texture and supplying eye point data and position data to the transformation, col. 6, lines 14-25.

With respect to dependent claim 3, repetition period of said basic textures and a repetition period of said modulation textures are offset from each other. Bolton discloses repetitive regions of the textural patterns are combined and patterns corresponding to the map levels nested within one another, col. 6, lines 48-53.

With respect to dependent claim 4, modulation textures are set to higher spatial frequencies than those of said basic textures, with color information removed . . . Bolton discloses the stored image set at the maximum spatial frequency and the texture memory system using this data, col. 16, lines 56-68.

With respect to dependent claim 5, modulation textures consist of different patterns from said basic textures. Bolton discloses modulating selected textured surfaces by a surface detail generator, col. 20, lines 30-34.

As per independent claim 6, an image generation device for generating a two-dimensional image by texture mapping . . . comprising: a memory means that stores basic textures to be mapped to generate the overall pattern . . . modulation textures used to amplitude-modulate the patterns . . . ; Bolton discloses storing in memory a pattern and a memory hierarchy produced from the texture pattern with cut-off spatial frequencies, col. 17, lines 8-46; and an image processing means . . . Bolton discloses image generating means for providing a signal output representative of variable brightness, col. 7, lines 14-28, and further discloses modulating luminance values of a textured surface, col. 20, lines 30-34.

With respect to dependent claims 7-10, they are rejected based upon similar rational as above dependent claims 2-5.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
